

interactive 3D tooth

drag left click = rotate / drag right click = zoom

highly valued and high-impact opportunity for medical universities, pharmaceutical research labs and medical devices companies to reach healthcare professionals and students with scientific data and positive brand messages for creating a stronger, lasting instructional relationships.

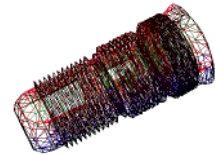

transmit your message

high-impact educational strategies and presentations.

Innovative, science-driven product education promising to get your informations clearly across.

implant interactive wireframe 3D mental/visual/cognitive/hearing

As a child we begin to acquire knowledge by learning and instruction.

As an adult we continue the gradual process of acquiring knowledge integration of technology in medical education for delivery of the educational program computerized interactive medical instructional programs strategies for fast and dedicated delivery of a successful presentation

2005

the recent international emphasis on using electronic health records (EHRs) to improve the quality, safety, and affordability of health education has created a need for practical guidance on achieving these benefits in the medical education process